Foreword

When our forefathers founded Scotland Neck, they were dependent on the flowing waters of the Roanoke River. They loved it in spite of its whirling currents which made traveling rough, and its overflowing banks that could spoil a years work in one week. They loved it because it was home! Today, though times have changed, people have not. The Roanoke River, our river, is home and our love is as strong as that of our fathers.

The 1965 SCOTSMAN is an annual of people, but it is also an annual of "a people", for we are a people fostered by the banks of the Roanoke and we are a reflection of the first founders of Scotland Neck.

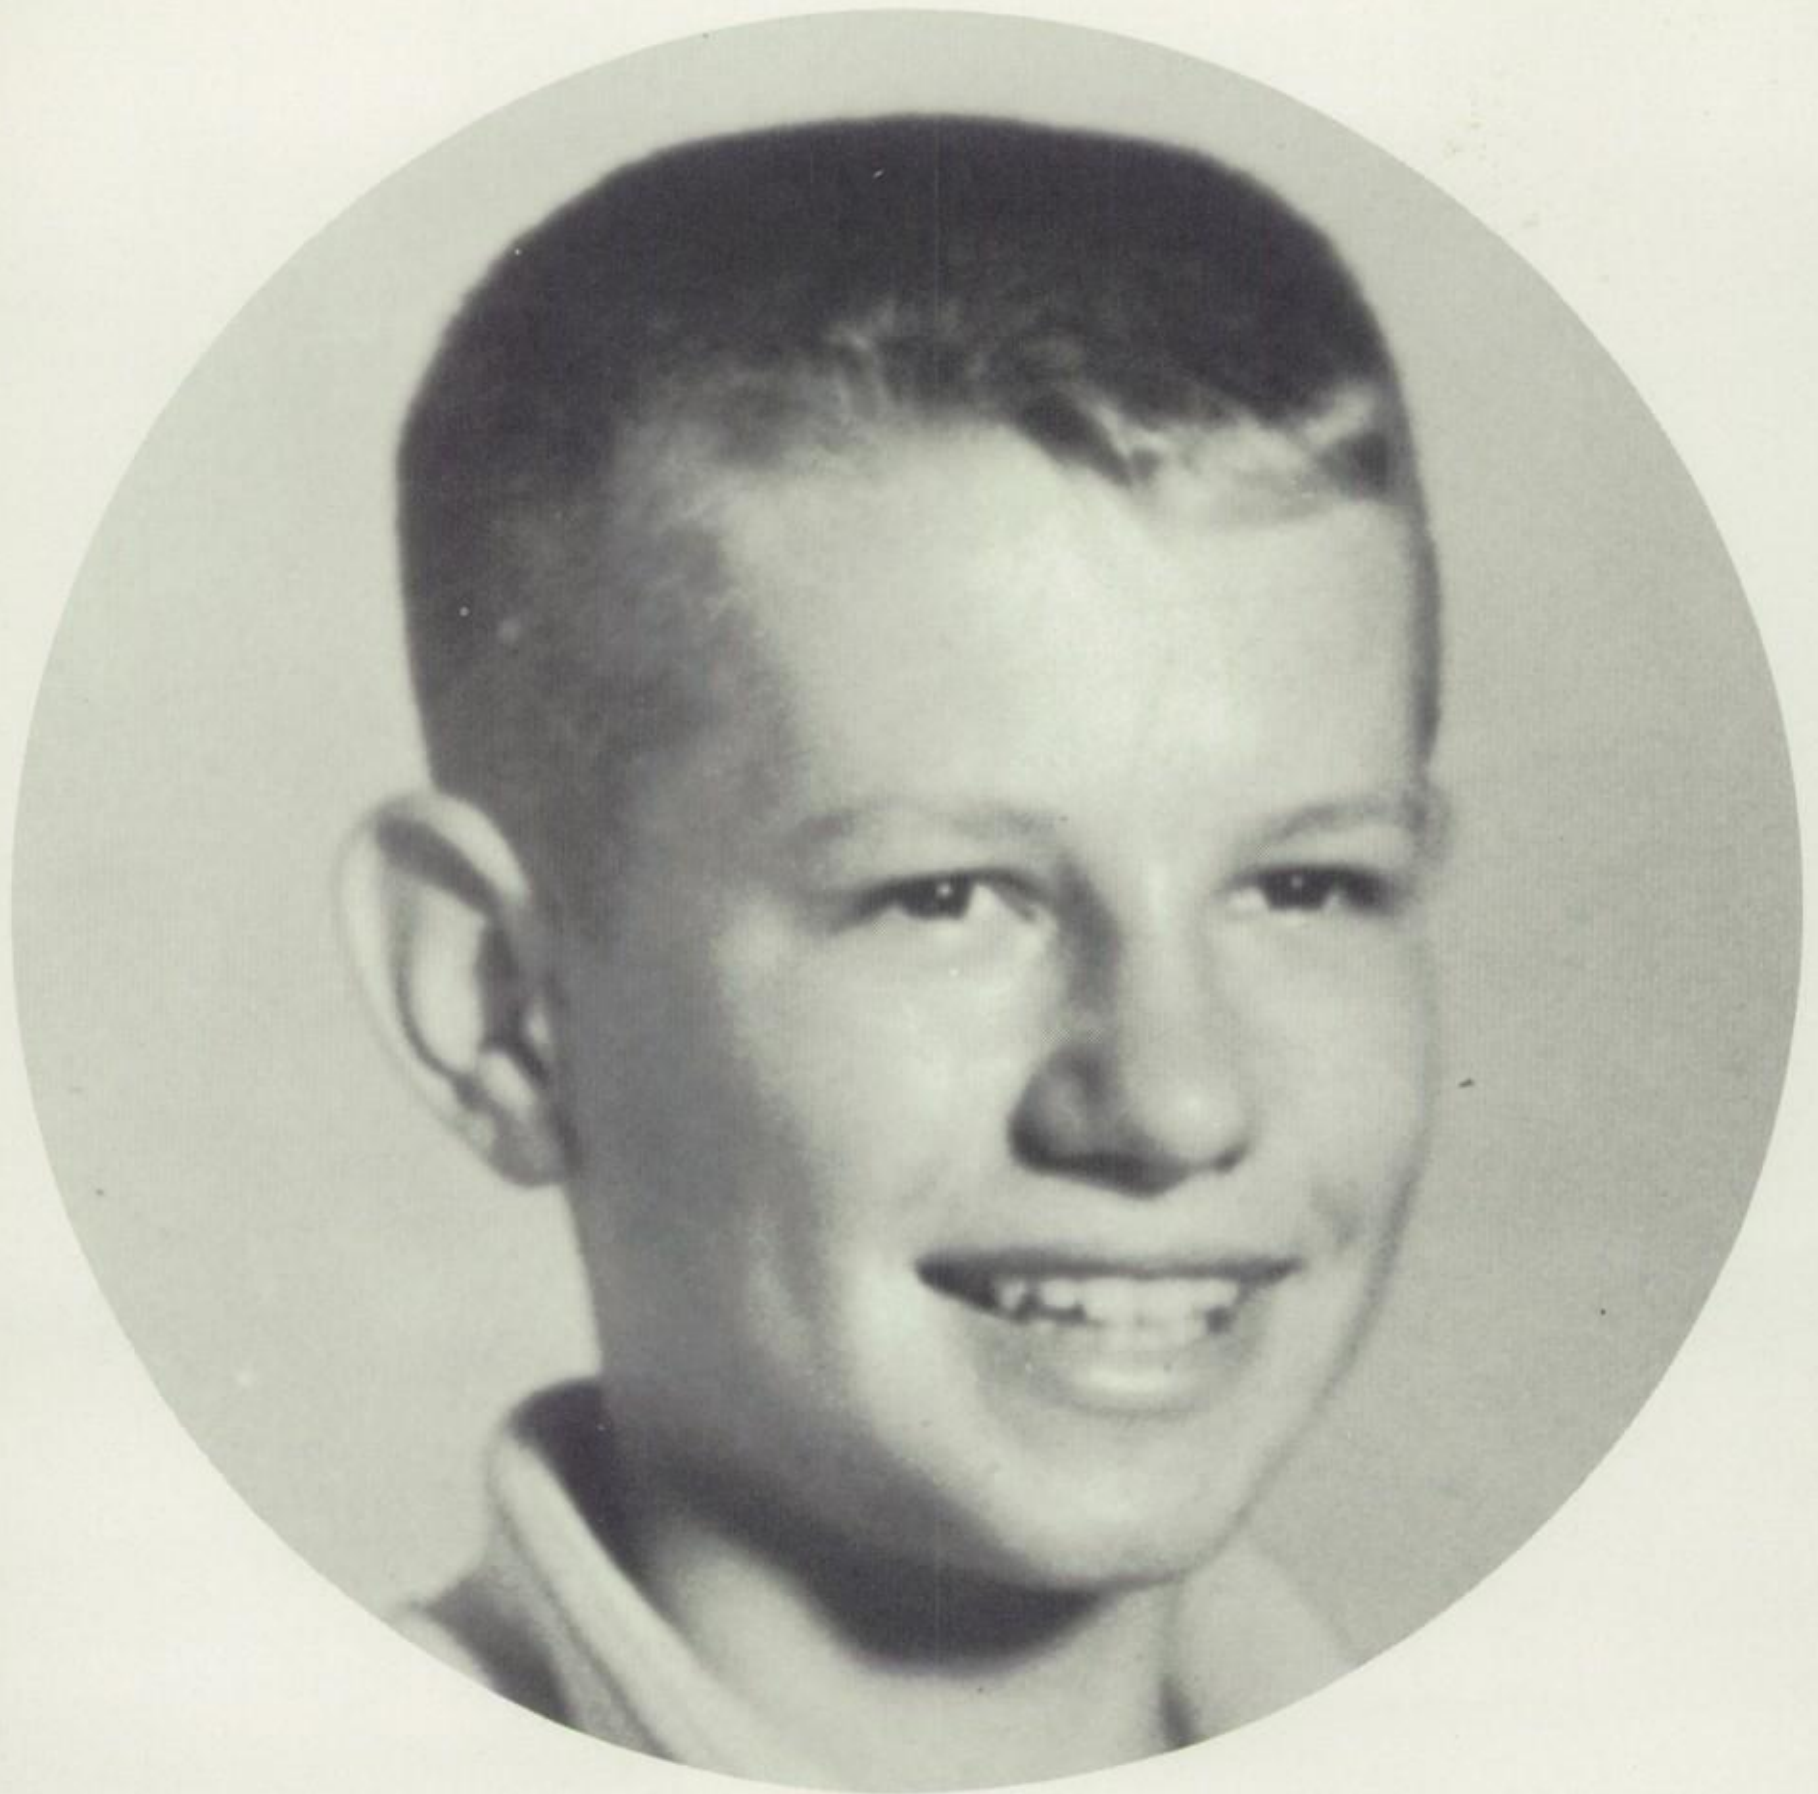

Thus, we present the 1965 SCOTSMAN, built on the historic Roanoke River and telling of the people of Scotland Neck; their past, present, and a hint into their future.

Dedicated to

Mrs. Julia Boyd Brodie

Wilferd Peterson has written that the art of being human is "To recognize the frailties and foibles of human nature and to try to be everlastingly patient, forgiving, and understanding." It is a rare privilege to be associated with one whose life so beautifully exemplifies these qualities. The students of Scotland Neck High School wish to express their love and gratitude for the person whose enduring patience, unending forgiveness, and deep understanding has provided, and will continue to provide, inspiration and leadership for us as we face the future. It is with this conviction that we dedicate the 1965 SCOTSMAN to you, Mrs. Julia Boyd Brodie.

Administration

Principal's Farewell to the Seniors

When you receive your diplomas, you will have accomplished one of the most challenging goals in these few years of your lives. There will be many more goals in the future, but the foundation of life has been laid during your early school days.

As you leave Scotland Neck High School, we would not want you to assume that your education had reached its culmination. Education is a continuing process; you have hardly begun. We hope that your stay here has helped you learn to think, to cooperate, and to understand the relative value of things spiritual and material.

Too often the term "success" is understood in the narrow sense. There are a number of qualifications for success, and certainly "He who is greatest among you is servant of all". May each of your lives be a contribution to mankind and in so being, become successful in the fullest sense.
